INTRODUCTION

International criminal tribunals are not just another enforcement regime to promote human dignity. They change the ball game rather fundamentally, and entail a shift from state responsibility to individual criminal responsibility. They try people, not states. Yet the whole time while we were globalising the rules governing state-state relations, we actually left much of criminal law and procedure within the reserve domain of states, ensconced within national jurisdictions. International criminal law thus gives rise to legal issues hitherto debated in comparative law, which go into the heart of what it means to be just.

ABOUT THE CENTRE FOR INTERNATIONAL LAW

The Centre for International Law (CIL) is based at the Bukit Timah campus of the National University of Singapore. CIL's mission is to enable Singapore and the Asia-Pacific region to play a more significant role in the promotion and development of international law and policy. The Centre's aim is to become the region's intellectual hub and thought leader for research on and teaching of international law and policy. The Director of CIL is Professor Lucy Reed. For more information, please visit the CIL website at www.cil.nus.edu.sg or contact CIL at cil.info@nus.edu.sg.
